1. History

Cimaware Software - Cimadevilla Electrónica - is a privately held firm based in Madrid, Spain that develops data recovery utilities for businesses and individuals. Since the release of the OfficeFIX product line in 1999, Cimaware Software has become a leading provider of Microsoft Office file recovery utilities and has sold its software to some of the largest businesses in the world. Cimaware Software's success is rooted in its commitment to creating quality programs and providing clients with superior customer service.

2. OfficeFIX product line

Released in 1999, ExcelFIX was the first of the OfficeFIX programs. ExcelFIX quickly became the most prestigious and awarded Excel file recovery utility available on the market, and the only Office file recovery program to be awarded the Ziff Davis Media Inc.'s Editors' Pick Five-Star Award. The phenomenal success of ExcelFIX inspired Cimaware Software to develop a complete Office file recovery suite to provide clients with the best protection against file corruption. Both AccessFIX and WordFIX were released in 2002 and OutlookFIX followed in 2006. OfficeFIX is currently the most widely sold and affordable file recovery suite available. The OfficeFIX programs can be purchased as stand alone utilities, as a complete suite or in three program combo suites. All programs are available in a free demo edition so that they can be evaluated before purchase. The programs are delivered electronically through an automated order system to ensure the fastest possible file recovery. All programs come with one year of free program updates.

3. What the Future Holds

In the past nine years Cimaware Software has experienced record growth and income. The company continues to expand by developing new software applications and services in a variety of fields, including undelete programs, back-up utilities and web site applications. "As Cimaware software grows we will continue providing easy to use recovery Software such as a new photo recovery and undelete utility, as well as new solutions for businesses world-wide. Our goal is to maintain the respect we have achieved by the quality of our software and personalized customer and technical support," says David Cimadevilla, Cimaware Software CEO.
